

PUBLIC HEALTH ORDER
PROVINCIAL ORDER
April 23, 2021

(Under Subsection 45(2) of The Public Health Act, 1994 and section 25.2(2) of The Disease Control Regulations)

WHEREAS:

- A. I, Dr. Saqib Shahab, an official with the Ministry of Health and the Chief Medical Health Officer for the Province of Saskatchewan, have been authorized by the Minister of Health to act under section 45 of The Public Health Act, 1994 and under subsection 25.2 of The Disease Control Regulations;
  - B. The transmission of the infectious agent SARS-CoV-2, which has caused cases and outbreaks of a serious communicable disease known as COVID-19 among the population of the Province of Saskatchewan, is a serious public health threat, as defined in The Public Health Act, 1994;
  - C. COVID-19 is a category I communicable disease;
  - D. To decrease or eliminate the risk to health presented by COVID-19, it is necessary to (a) reduce the probability for transmission of SARS-CoV-2, and (b) reduce the exposure to SARS-CoV-2;
  - E. Multiple SARS-CoV-2 variants of concern have emerged worldwide and are now present in Canada and Saskatchewan. These variants of concern are more transmissible than the previously dominant variants, and are more likely to cause death or serious illness;
  - F. As of April 22, 2021, the seven-day moving average of new COVID-19 cases in Regina is 29.4 cases per 100,000 people, compared to 20.2 cases per 100,000 for the rest of Saskatchewan. Regina presently accounts for just over one-third (34%) of Saskatchewan's total active COVID-19 cases;
  - G. Also as of April 21, 2021, 5,667 cases of variants of concern have been detected in Saskatchewan. 3,324 of these cases were reported in Regina and the surrounding area. Variants of concern presently account for the majority of active COVID-19 cases in Regina;
  - H. Household transmission is the largest known source of recent COVID-19 transmission in Saskatchewan. Evidence in other jurisdictions has shown that limiting small household gatherings has a substantial impact on reducing transmission of COVID-19;
  - I. A person infected with SARS-CoV-2, including a variant of concern, can infect other people with whom the infected person is in contact; The gathering of people in close contact with one another can promote the transmission of SARS-CoV-2, including variants of concern, and increase the number of people who develop COVID-19;

- J. I am aware of and have considered the impact that this Order and other public health measures, including the Re-Open Saskatchewan Plan, have had and will continue to have on the people of Saskatchewan;
- K. I am continuously evaluating and reconsidering these public health measures based upon the information and evidence available to me, including the impacts on the people of Saskatchewan previously discussed, and also including infection rates, sources of transmission, the presence of outbreaks, the number of people in hospital and in intensive care, deaths, the emergence of and risks posed by virus variants of concern, vaccine availability, immunization rates, the vulnerability of particular populations and reports from the rest of Canada and other jurisdictions;
- L. While issuing this Order, I have done my utmost to strike a proportionate balance between the public interest in holding and attending public and private gatherings against the serious risk that such gatherings pose to public health;
- M. I am aware of and have considered that the public interest includes constitutionally-protected interests, particularly the rights and freedoms protected by the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (“Charter”), including freedom of religion and conscience, freedom of expression, freedom of peaceful assembly, freedom of association, and mobility rights. I also recognize that the rights and freedoms protected by the Charter are not absolute, and are subject to reasonable limits, prescribed by law as can be demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society;
- N. When issuing this Order, I have considered whether alternate measures that are less impactful on the Charter-protected rights and freedoms of the people of Saskatchewan are appropriate and consistent with public health principles, including the precautionary principle. I am aware of my obligation to choose measures that impact the Charter-protected rights and freedoms of the people of Saskatchewan as little possible. To that end, this Order:
  - a. Allows outdoor public and private gatherings of up to ten people, both in and outside of the Regina Region;
  - b. Allows persons living alone or single parents with minor children to form household “bubbles” with one other household for social support;
  - c. In concert with the Re-Open Saskatchewan Plan, allows 30 people to attend places of worship for ceremonial purposes; and
  - d. Allows for visitors in care homes where the rate of vaccination among residents of the care home is high enough to substantially limit the spread of COVID-19 within the facility.
- O. I consider the following measures necessary to decrease or eliminate the risk to health presented by COVID-19 and in the public interest, in order to prevent, reduce and control the transmission of SARS-CoV-2, including variants of concern;
- P. This Order imposes additional requirements or restrictions to those found in the Re-Open Saskatchewan Plan, as updated from time to time, and found on the Government of Saskatchewan website: Saskatchewan.ca. Where this Order conflicts with the Re-Open Saskatchewan Plan, this Order shall prevail;
- Q. By virtue of the foregoing and under subsection 45(2) of The Public Health Act, 1994 and section 25.2(2) of The Disease Control Regulations:

This Order applies to all individuals, businesses, institutions, associations and other organizations within the Province of Saskatchewan and City of Lloydminster.
