

Maurice (Mo) Bundon

A distinguished community leader, Maurice Bundon has had a lasting impact on education, sport and culture throughout the province. He has enriched the lives of those around him and helped shape the skyline for the city of Regina.

Born in Prince Albert, Mr. Bundon attended Athol Murray College of Notre Dame in Wilcox until 1970. After receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Ottawa, he returned to Saskatchewan in 1983 and quickly established himself within the community.

Mr. Bundon is senior vice-president and chief operating officer for Harvard Developments Inc, a member of the board for Harvard Western Insurance and Urban Forest Recyclers.

Mr. Bundon has served on the board at the Athol Murray College of Notre Dame since 1989, with terms as vice chair for the Board of Regents from 1996 to 2009, and chairman of the board from 2009 to present. Mr. Bundon was named the Frank Germann Alumnus Volunteer of the Year in 2005, and was awarded the Athol Murray College Medal of Honour in 2007.

Mr. Bundon is truly committed to raising education awareness within the community and was instrumental in the founding of the One Life Makes a Difference Foundation, which helps inner-city and marginalized students with educational opportunities. He was also very involved with the Building Dreams and Futures campaign which raised over $82 million dollars for the University of Regina.

In response to the years of dedication to his community he was the recipient of the United Way of Regina President's Award, the Sask Sport President's Citation for Administrative Excellence for the 2005 Canada Summer Games, and in 2009 received the Red Cross Humanitarian Award.

He served as chairman of the board of governors at the University of Regina from 2006 to 2009, and was recognized for his commitment to education with the Distinguished Service Award in 2010.

Mr. Bundon has shown a deep dedication to sport and recreation in Saskatchewan and has served as president of the Regina Rowing Club, executive member of the Saskatchewan Rowing Association and is a Saskatchewan in Motion Ambassador. Mr. Bundon served as the vice president of the 1995 Grey Cup committee and as Executive Vice President to the 2005 Canada Summer Games.

Donald E. Kramer

In the field of business, commerce and industry, there is no name as recognizable throughout Saskatchewan as Don Kramer. But it is his generous support of countless community organizations that have helped make Saskatchewan a better place to live, work and raise a family.

Mr. Kramer has served as president and chair of Kramer Ltd., the president of the Canadian Association of Equipment Distributors and campaign chair of the United Way of Regina. He was chair of the board of directors for Santa Maria Home and Junior Achievement and director of the board for the Saskatchewan Roughriders, Saskatchewan Government Insurance Office, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the YMCA and the American Association of Equipment Distributors.

From his position as a business leader in Saskatchewan he has had the opportunity to establish programs that have benefited the lives of thousands of Saskatchewan residents. In 1969, he established The Southern Saskatchewan Community Foundation Inc. (SSCF), with the motto of “a charity for all charities”, and through a permanent endowment fund, the Donald and Claire Kramer Foundation has provided financial support to over 30 local charitable causes annually.

With the personal belief that a creative community must offer creative means of expression, Mr. Kramer has been a major supporter of the arts in Saskatchewan, including the Regina Symphony Orchestra and the RCMP Heritage Centre, and has provided key funding for several acquisitions and special exhibits at the MacKenzie Art Gallery, including Joe Fafard’s bronze sculpture of cows.

Mr. Kramer was the chief financial donor to the Kramer IMAX Theatre in Regina, and several scholarships at the Universities of Saskatchewan and Regina, Campion College and SIAST, helping over 300 students across Saskatchewan, realize their dreams of furthering their education.

A vision and love of all people, he provided for a residence and treatment program for youth suffering from mental illness a program that continues to flourish today. His good work has continued through the donation of property and financial assistance to community organizations including Kramer Home, the Marian Centre, and Holy Rosary Cathedral.

Mr. Kramer is a recipient of the Canada 125 Commemorative Medal. In 2009, he received the Outstanding Philanthropist Award, from the Regina Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals.

Myrna F. Yuzicapi

Myrna Yuzicapi has spent her life building and refining educational programs for Saskatchewan's First Nations community and has been recognized as a passionate advocate and mentor for the province's youth. She is a member of the Okanese First Nation, born in Prince Albert, raised in the Blue Heron district and attended school in Canwood. Mrs. Yuzicapi has a Bachelor of Education degree from the University of Saskatchewan, a post-graduate diploma in Education Administration and a diploma in Psychiatric Nursing.

In 1980, working with a group of parents who identified the need within their own community, Mrs. Yuzicapi became the founding director of the Saskatoon Native Survival School (later named Joe Duquette High School and then Oskayak High School), which offers First Nations students a culturally sensitive education. From 1974 to 1977, she served as the founding director of the Indian Social Work Education Program, director for the Saskatchewan Indian Cultural College, and was a member of the Ministerial Review of Family Services and Child Welfare.

Continually on the forefront of the transformation of First Nations education in the province Mrs. Yuzicapi served as a member of the Indian and Métis Curriculum Advisory Committee, and as a key designer in the Aboriginal Student Achievement Plan which looked at ways to increase student participation and retention at the Saskatchewan Institute of Applied Arts and Technology (SIAST). The study explored First Nations and Métis student completion rates with the goal of encouraging recruitment and increasing success in areas where First Nations people are historically under-represented.

Her leadership in the community has continued and she has become a role model for both students and staff alike. Her time as student councillor has resulted in a rich array of social, cultural and recreational activities throughout the Kelsey Campus. She has helped to create an environment where First Nations students are free to pursue their goals while maintaining their own cultural identity.

In 1997, she was named Educator of the Year - Aboriginal Education by the Saskatoon Preschool Foundation Awards in recognition of her work to bridge the gaps that divide through education. Mrs. Yuzicapi is the recipient of the Commemorative Medal for the Centennial of Saskatchewan and of the 2007 SIAST President's Award of Excellence.
